

NATIONAL CONSORTIUM FOR TEACHING ABOUT ASIA (NCTA)

Mapping Past & Present: Spirits & Beasts of East Asia

VIRTUAL SEMINAR FOR K-12 EDUCATORS & ADMIN FROM:
AL, DE, IL, KY, LA, MD, MI, MN, OH, PA, WV

JULY 11 - 22, 2022
(Monday - Friday)
1:00 - 4:00pm (EDT) (online)

From the legendary characters of myth and manga to the figurative demons of disease and war, the contours of East Asia have been defined by its spirits and beasts, real and imagined, from time immemorial. Join us in this free online seminar as we map the impact of these transnational forces in and beyond East Asia through the lenses of geography, art, religion, sports, literature, and more! Focusing on the regions that comprise present-day China, Japan, and Korea, participants will engage with experts and other educators in the field to explore major trends, global issues, and historic foundations that shape East Asian society. Our virtual journey will introduce the region's diverse cultures and environment while building and enhancing your tool chest of teaching resources for the classroom.

"I think everything is great. I think that the workshop could still be online even (if) health and safety is not a concern because there are so many benefits when it is done online." NCTA online seminar participant
