

RIVERSIDE RESEARCH

Pursuing a Career in Critical Languages Supporting National Intelligence in the Midwest

Professionals with expertise in critical languages are in high demand, and the opportunities available may be closer to home than one might expect. In this presentation, Eric Connelly, an Ohio State alumnus of the Center for Slavic, East European and Eurasian Studies (BA '14, MA/MPA, '18) and Michelle McKenzie, an Ohio State alumna of the Department of Linguistics and the Department of Slavic and East European Languages and Cultures (BA '19, BA '19) will introduce you to Riverside Research, an independent nonprofit focused on our nation's security. Riverside Research supports our national security interests in the Buckeye State. Pizza will be provided to attendees.
