

THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY

EAST ASIAN STUDIES CENTER

2019 IKS SPRING
LECTURE SERIES PRESENTS:

EMPATHY AT WAR: EMOTIONS
IN SINO-NORTH KOREAN RELATIONS DURING THE KOREAN WAR

GREGG BRAZINSKY

Professor, History and International Affairs
The George Washington University

How did the Chinese and North Korean governments mobilize their citizens and soldiers during the Korean War? Dr. Brazinsky looks at how each nation tried to foster a sense of mutual empathy among their people and emphasize the shared triumphs and sorrows of war.

Free and open to the public
easc.osu.edu/events/iks/g-brazinsky

This event is co-sponsored by the Department of History, the Mershon Center for International Security Studies, the Institute for Chinese Studies, and a U.S. Department of Education Title VI grant to The Ohio State University East Asian Studies Center

Mon
April 01
12:00-1:30 PM
Mershon Center 120