

THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY

EAST ASIAN STUDIES CENTER

2019 IKS SPRING
LECTURE SERIES
PRESENTS:

READING CLASSICAL LITERATURE AND ITS ROLE IN CHARACTER DEVELOPMENT

SEUNG-RYONG KIM

Professor, Korean Literature in Classical Chinese
Pusan National University

HAN CHAE

Medical Doctor, Korean Medicine
Professor, Korean Medicine
Pusan National University

Professors Kim and Chae analyze character development in Confucius's 'The Analects' using traditional classics education. Using Garnefski's Cognitive Emotion Regulation Questionnaire, they look at cognitive processes in recognizing and responding to negative stresses.

Free and open to the public
easc.osu.edu/events/iks/s-kim-h-chaе

This event is sponsored by a U.S. Department of Education Title VI grant to The Ohio State University East Asian Studies Center

Tues
February 26
4:00-5:15 PM
Mendenhall Lab 115