TEACHER WORKSHOP: MANGA AND STORYTELLING

FRIDAY, JUNE 12
SULLIVANT HALL
(1813 N. HIGH ST. COLUMBUS, OH)
10:00 AM - 3:00 PM
LED BY: STACY HANNON
(CALIFORNIA STATE UNIVERSITY-CHICO)
WORKSHOP FREE TO EDUCATORS!

Since the creation of the first manga magazine in Japan in 1874, manga has come a long way. After manga became a widely-accepted form of popular culture in Japan, it was exported worldwide and has become an international phenomenon. To complement the Manga at a Crossroads symposia and the World of Shōjo Manga: Mirrors of Girls' Desires! exhibit at The Ohio State University, IJS will host a workshop for K-16 educators to explore manga and storytelling.

MANGA AT A CROSSROADS

- This is a hands-on interactive workshop for educators.
- Learn how to incorporate visual literacy concepts into students' original manga.
- Through these images, students develop their own literacy, explore other cultures and ideas, and develop their own identity
- Learn how any issue--personal, local, or global--can be developed through manga storytelling methods.
- Explore how to align these methods with the new curriculum standards.

*NO JAPANESE LANGUAGE OR CULTURAL KNOWLEDGE NEEDED!

*PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT CONTACT HOURS AND LUNCH WILL BE PROVIDED.
